

Debiopharm International SA Launches Clinical Trials Website for Patients: patients.debiopharm.com

The website provides patients with helpful information on the company's clinical trials

Lausanne, Switzerland – November 22, 2017 – Debiopharm International SA (Debiopharm – www.debiopharm.com), part of Debiopharm Group™, a Swiss-based global biopharmaceutical company, announced today the launch of its new clinical trials website patients.debiopharm.com. The website provides patients and their caregivers with helpful information on Debiopharm's clinical trials and studies. It also offers accessible information about the clinical trial process in general.

Debiopharm's main therapeutic areas are oncology and infectious diseases. The company is currently conducting trials in multiple indications like Ovarian cancer, Head & Neck cancer and Non-Hodgkin Lymphoma. Additional studies are running in patients with Advanced Solid Malignancies as well. The website contains useful information for each clinical trial such as a short description of the trial process and its purpose, main inclusion criteria, as well as a map locating the study sites (in accordance with the information contained in the EU Clinical Trials Register and the clinicaltrials.gov website). The patient can print the information to discuss with his/her doctor.

"This website is intended to be a helpful tool for patients and their families", explains Christian Aeschlimann, Director of Clinical Operations at Debiopharm International SA. "They can find accessible information related to our clinical trials and treatment options. The website also allows users to share links of patient associations".

The website was developed in collaboration with the Superhuit agency in Lausanne. Created with the user experience in mind, the website includes intuitive design features to help patients to navigate easily and find information.
